

An Ceol, An Teanga is an Talamh

Music, Language & the Earth

As part of the “Le Solas” exhibition
A talk with live music exploring the connections of Irish language, music and natural landscape

Thursday 8th January @ 7pm
Enda ‘O Brien Library
All welcome

With artist & musician Sharon Ní Chuilibín

Sharon has a BA in Fine Art and Art History from NCAD, and an MA in Ethnomusicology. Her work explores Irish language, landscape, place heritage and memory - exploring ways of seeing and perceiving embedded in the Irish language. The current exhibition Le Solas is a tribute to Manchán Magan and his “32 Words for Field”.

Composing original music and songs also in the Irish language, Sharon is also an artist in residence and facilitator working in schools, she hosts retreats and works with individuals to support health & healing.
